Hello there,

As the summer transitions to fall, the Canyon to Confluence Initiative wants to share a quick update on what we've been up to and our path forward.

In our last update we shared the July 19th Boogie on Bank event at Confluence Park. There were a whole range of participants enjoying yoga, dancing, hanging out by the river and the occasional passersby just wondering where that sound was coming from. We really appreciate the organizers for making space for us to help raise awareness of the C2Ci.

We had also shared some exciting news about the Centennial Park Upgrade which made the actual local news. A sincere thank you to Mark Yaxley from the Golden Star for contacting us and writing an article about the project. We are actively working with the Rotary Club of Golden and the Town of Golden to make this a reality and our plan is to apply for funding to get community input and have a conceptual design put together next year.

An update on our upcoming events.

- September 13 we'll be at the Golden Museum Fall Faire from 11 am to 4 pm to share information about the project and receive input

The C2Ci's plans for hosting BC Rivers Day event have been cancelled due to limited capacity of our team. We encourage you to find your own way to celebrate BC Rivers Day September 28 whether that's a walk along the Rotary Trail, a gathering at Confluence Park or one of the many ways to enjoy rivers in and around Golden.

September 23, The Outdoor Recreation Council of BC is hosting a free webinar that we thought we'd share with you.

Whether you ride dirt bikes, climb mountains, paddle lakes, or scan the skies for birds, if you spend time outdoors, you're part of a river's story. This interactive session will feature inspiring stories from across BC, showing how recreationists and communities are stepping up to care for waterways.

This week actually marks one year since the C2Ci launched its website and promoted itself to the general public. It's been a great year introducing the initiative to so many interested people, gathering ideas and growing support for developing a plan for Golden's river corridor. Thank you for subscribing to our update list and staying informed.
